

Special Dispute Meeting

First Fatal Clash
Is Reported Along Border Between Honduras, Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza and other top Nicaraguan officials held emergency talks throughout the night on the first fatal clash reported in Nicaragua's bitter border dispute with Honduras.

Somoza, who took office yesterday for a six-year term, told an inauguration audience of 45,000 that Honduran forces attacked the village of Mocoron in the frontier zone, killing 25 Nicaraguan soldiers. Officials later said 35 Nicaraguans had been killed.

Somoza said five Honduran planes strafed a Nicaraguan post during the attack. He warned that if Honduras continued what he called its "aggressive" attitude, the "whole of Nicaragua and the national guard will know how to defend its national integrity."

A statement from the Honduran government in Tegucigalpa said Mocoron had been "recaptured" by Honduran forces and there had been casualties.

Tension gripped Managua. Radio stations broadcast denunciations of Honduras and reported the names of volunteers for military duty. Youths raced through the streets in a wave of patriotic fervor.

Somoza held conferences with his brother, the army chief of staff, Gen. Anastasio Somoza Jr.; other high ranking military officers, and Cabinet members. He also met with U.S. Ambassador Thomas E. Whelan.

In Tegucigalpa, the Honduran government said its air force units had recaptured Mocoron and that the "first Honduran heroes fell." It gave no details.

One report said Honduran planes were sent to the area after word was received that Nicaraguan planes had flown to the region to support Nicaraguan ground forces. Honduras has charged that 50 Nicaraguan soldiers invaded the territory it claims April 19.

Earlier, the border situation appeared to be cooling off. Nicaragua had canceled orders mobilizing reserves and moving troops to the border.

Shortly before his inauguration Somoza ordered a message sent to all other American governments declaring Nicaragua's policy is based on nonaggression. In his inaugural speech he pledged his government to seek a solution of all problems through "pacific" means.

Air Force, Navy at it Again

Air Force Secretary Says One H-Bomb Could Stop Task Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Donald Quarles says that a single hydrogen-headed guided bomb launched by a plane could knock out a naval task force.

And Air Gen. Nathan Twining claims that high-level attack by a single squadron of heavy or medium jet bombers dropping nuclear bombs could produce the same result.

Publication today of testimony by top Pentagon leaders before a House Appropriations subcommittee revealed that committee questioning stirred the Air Force and Navy into renewed argument about the vulnerability of carrier task forces.

Benson Says Most of Farm Laws No Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson declared today that major provisions of present farm laws are failures. He appealed to Congress for better programs, but made no specific suggestions.

The secretary voiced criticism of crop control measures enacted in the late 1930s and subsequently modified, and of the flexible price support program enacted in 1954 at the urging of President Eisenhower and himself.

While offering no specific proposals for improving farm aid programs, Benson gave a word of praise to those provisions in present laws which give him wide leeway in setting price supports on a large number of commodities.

He set forth these views in a letter to Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee. He said they were made in response to an invitation from Ellender that he "consider some of the important problems arising under existing price support legislation."

Benson said a "technological explosion" occurring on American farms is making obsolete the present control and price support programs as they pertain to the designated "basic" crops — cotton, corn, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

Volcano Shows Signs It Is Ready to Blow

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP)—Lamonai Volcano, off the eastern tip of New Guinea, is showing signs it is ready to blow.

A swamp near the crater disappeared overnight. Tremors, rumblings, heat and steam clouds intensified dramatically. Plans are being made to move 7,000 islanders living within 10 miles of the crater.

Charles Thomas, until recently secretary of the Navy, and Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, testified that a carrier force would be difficult to locate in the open sea. Even if it were located, they said, the missile and counter-missile defenses of the force would give it a high degree of protection from attacking planes.

The testimony was given in January and February — Some time before Quarles was named deputy secretary of defense and Twining was chosen chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Quarles said that if bombers with an air-to-surface guided missile having a 50-to-100-mile range approached a carrier task force, "I do not know of anything that could be done to prevent that missile, if it were armed with a megaton warhead, from knocking out a carrier task force, depending on how the force was deployed."

When Twining was asked how ships maneuvering could be attacked, he replied:

"With bombers using atomic weapons."

How close would the bombs need to come?

"A couple of miles. A 'near miss' works in this case. You can miss them quite a ways and still sink them or put them out of commission."

Decides Full Tax Payable

Prosecuting Attorney
Files Decision, Says
Water Company 1957
Assessment All Due

Prosecuting Attorney Harold W. Barrick today informed the Pettis County Court that in his opinion the property of the Sedalia Water Company, recently purchased by the City of Sedalia, cannot be removed from the assessment lists and that the full year's taxes must be paid.

His opinion, made at the request of the court, followed the filing of a petition by the city to have the property removed from the assessment lists as of April 1, the date the property changed hands, on the basis that the city is a tax-exempt agency.

The city's petition also stated that the old water company agreed to foot the tax bill for the first three months of the year by deducting approximately that amount from the purchase price of the property.

The city asked permission to pay that part of the taxes for the year and, in effect, be excused from paying taxes for the remaining nine months. Barrick's opinion, filed Thursday morning, states that no such pro-rating is possible under the law and that the taxes for the remaining nine months must be paid.

The amount involved is in the neighborhood of $12,000. Last year's real property taxes for the old water company amounted to $15,279.18. Based on that figure, the tax for the remaining nine months would almost total $11,500, but there have been improvements of the property since last year's assessment was determined.

Barrick's opinion agrees with the city's point that the law states that lands belonging to the city are exempt from taxation for state, county or local purposes but adds that the true question is "What

House Group Okays Money For the Fair

The Missouri House appropriations committee last night approved, with the exception of one item, all of an omnibus bill providing $449,500 for improvements at the Missouri State Fair.

The bill must now go before the full House and the Senate.

The exception was the deletion of the proposed Youth Building, rejected on the basis that no new construction should be started this year.

The items approved were:

Hog barn, $200,000; track improvements, $78,500; wiring, $60,000; finishing the sheep barn $55,000; warm-up pen for the horse show and changing the location of the carnival ground, $16,000; and purchase of 60 acres of ground from Clinton Muller, Sedalia, $40,000. Muller's land is located at the southwest corner of the fairgrounds.

Also included in the bill was approval of the proposed construction of a new Missouri Employment Security office building on the north side of Fifth between Lamine and Massachusetts. The property has already been purchased by the state, through federal amortization, from Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ihrig. It is located between the Old Missouri Homestead and the Mid-Continent Wholesale Co.

The committee also approved a bill authorizing the expenditure of $125,000 for the purchase of property by Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, and $60,000 for additional personal services required this year at the college. The property in question is a residential section lying between the main campus and the outlying, newer additions to the college.

Official sources said the message replied to a note delivered by Shimoda on his arrival here in March.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has told Japan it is "essential" to the defense of the free world to continue nuclear tests, U.S. officials said today.

The formal note to Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi of Japan was signed by Secretary of State Dulles and handed to Charge d'Affaires Takezo Shimoda last weekend.

Official sources said the message replied to a note delivered by Shimoda on his arrival here in March.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today approved by a 9-6 vote the nomination of Scott McLeod to be ambassador to Ireland.

The action came at the committee's third straight day of consideration of the nomination. McLeod now is State Department security officer.

Trucking Bill Goes To House

Senate Works Late
To Approve Bill
Increasing Weight,
Size of Free Loads

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill to let bigger trucks operate in Missouri continued to stir up a storm of words as the Senate passed and sent it to the House in its first night session of the year last night.

The Senate worked until after 11 p. m. after spending almost two hours on the bill to let trucks up to 50 feet long and weighing up to 64,500 pounds use Missouri roads without paying any extra fees. Present limits are 45 feet and 60,010 pounds.

Another bill—to increase the top fees for the biggest over-the-road haulers from $600 to $700 and the top for local trucks from $200 to $225—was reported favorably by the Roads and Highways Committee a few hours before the "big truck" bill passed.

The fee increase is expected to be ready for debate next week. If the Senate fails to raise the fees on the bigger trucks, Sen. Leo J. Rozier (R) of Perryville promised an effort would be made to do that in the House.

Rozier touched off the long wrangle last night with charges that the truck lobby was a selfish interest group that had pressured the legislators into giving big truck operators a windfall of $4 million to $7½ million a year.

He suggested that the general public form its own organization so ordinary citizens would have a voice before the Legislature.

Sponsors of the bill charged Rozier was attempting a filibuster and raised numerous points of order against him. When that failed to halt his bitter attack, many of the senators wandered out to the corridors. At one point only six senators were present.

The final vote sending the bill to the House was 25-4.

Earlier the Roads and Highways Committee had approved a controversial speed limit bill after altering a House version sharply.

As it came out of committee, bill calls for a flat 70 mile an hour limit on dividend highways and 65 miles an hour on all other roads day and night. Driving so slowly as to impede traffic also could result in arrest.

Missing from the bill was a House approved "prima facie" clause—designed to let an offender show in court that the fact he was exceeding the speed limit did not necessarily constitute careless and reckless driving.

Also passed and sent to the House were bills to:

Raise the workmen's compensation payment for permanent total disability from $35 to $37.50 a week and liberalize some benefits for specific injuries.

Let merchants detain persons suspected of shoplifting without making themselves subject to suit for false arrest. Sen. Arkley W. Frieze (R) of Carthage protested that the bill was "chipping away at our civil liberties."

International Leader Speaks

A. B. Warren Chosen Lions Club President

The Sedalia Lions Club had a full program at its regular noon-day meeting Wednesday with the election of A. B. Warren as the new president for 1957-58 and a surprise visit to the club of Director General R. Roy Keaton, Lions International.

Director General Keaton is the first international officer to visit the Sedalia club in many years. He spoke for 30 minutes and kept the members intensely interested as he spoke on "Think; Thinkers and Makers."

He told of his first association with Lions when, a school teacher-principal in Texas, he became a member in 1929. In the early 30's he became a field man for the Lions and visited every state of the United States and finally was chosen for the present position as director-general, which office he has held since 1950 upon the retirement of the founder of Lions, Melvin Jones, who now carries the title of secretary-general.

"Lions," he told the group, "was founded in 1937 in Chicago and since that time has spread worldwide. The Lions International now has clubs in 81 foreign countries and boasts a membership of well over 550,000."

He then began his talk in which he reviewed present day happenings, tying in government, civic organizations and personalities with his subject.

The director-general was accompanied by V. H. Bradshaw, Missouri state secretary of Lions, Jefferson City. They were enroute to Columbia to attend the 35th anniversary of that club in Lionism.

Dulles Says He Conveys Ike's Decision

Ministers Open 3-Day
Session With Brief
Public Conference

BONN, Germany (AP) — The United States assured its Atlantic allies today it intends to carry out 1957 defense plans in full.

Secretary of State Dulles told the foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization he was conveying to them the personal decision of President Eisenhower, as given Dulles before he left Washington.

Dulles said Eisenhower instructed him to tell the NATO Council that no changes are contemplated in American plans as disclosed to NATO last December. This means the United States will not follow the recent example of Britain, which is cutting its forces in Europe and will reduce its armed forces by 50 per cent in the next five years.

The NATO ministers opened a three-day session with a brief public meeting at Bad Godesberg, followed by a closed session at the West German Foreign Ministry. Dulles spoke to the closed session and his statements were reported by persons who attended.

Dulles referred to fears that Britain's decision might touch off a chain reaction among the other NATO allies. He said this was not so in the case of the United States, although his country, like Britain, is placing increased reliance on the deterrent powers of atomic weapons.

Dulles said Russia is in the midst of a propaganda campaign to prevent the West from improving its defensive position.

"It would be folly to weaken our defenses only on the basis of Soviet promises," Dulles was quoted as saying. He said there must be adequate control and inspection to verify and check the fulfillment of Russian disarmament promises.

The speaker at the opening session was West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who challenged the Soviet Union to match West Germany's pledges of 1954 not to produce atomic, bacteriological or chemical weapons, and to accept strict and permanent control of all armaments.

"I am convinced that every nation would follow the Russian example and the danger of atomic war would be a thing of the past," Adenauer told the opening session of a three-day meeting of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers.

Storm Cellar Club Is Most Popular in Town

MANGUM, Okla. (AP) — One of this southwestern Oklahoma town's most popular clubs never makes the society columns.

It's the Shortgrass Storm Cellar Assn. and its members usually meet at night, mostly in house-coats, bathrobes and pajamas.

The informal reunions — quite frequent this time of the year in this part of the country — are in storm cellars.

Members meet whenever the city's storm siren is sounded. For instance, 37 of them got together a few nights ago in the cellar of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Houck.

Another active chapter is at the back yard cellar of Mr. and Mrs. Avery.

"We have one of the few cellars in the neighborhood and all you have to do to get in is to stomp on the door," said Avery.

Avery said his cellar could accommodate up to 40 or 50 people. "Of course they couldn't sit down, but who wants to sit during a storm," he said.

There are more than half a dozen families who open their underground shelters to neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Healy said they don't mind the cellar trips too much.

"It's the only time I get to visit my neighbors," said one working woman.

Plastic Lady Causes Sensation in Capital

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Several state officials, including Gov. Raymond Gary, were occupied elsewhere yesterday when it came time to unveil a $50,000 plastic lady at the state capital.

The lady usually is shown at medical functions. Her innards light up, and an electronic voice explains the workings.

Dr. H. H. Turner, an official of the semicentennial exposition, and Lou Allard, centennial chairman, finally did the unveiling, which resulted in serious study, red faces and a few chuckles.

The lady, detailed model of a 28-year-old woman, is still on display, flashing her lights and elucidating to the public.

Assistant Conservation Director Was Originally From Knob Noster

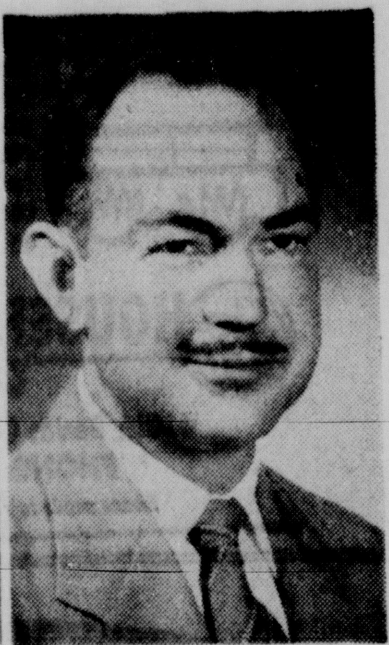

Dan Saults, who was named assistant director for the Conservation Commission last Friday, April 26, may be considered by Sedalians as a local boy to whom they may point with pride. Many west-central Missourians will remember the bucolic country weekly that expired quietly in 1942 — unnoticed except for the many who avidly followed the vigorous editorial page of the Knob Noster Gem. It was the same Dan Saults, who published the Gem and who gained renown for his vigorous writings in that paper.

Saults was born Charles Daniel Saults to Charles L. and Alberta Elliott Saults, both natives of Knob Noster, back in 1912. Both his parents still reside there, as do two brothers.

He grew up in that neighboring community and graduated from the local high school at 18. He embarked on a college career that began with two years at Central State in Warrensburg, and ended after an additional two years in the Missouri University Journalism school. While at Missouri University he roomed with Kenneth Love, present business manager of The Democrat-Capital.

Following college, Saults spent the required servitude at then near-starvation wages in newspaper work during the depression years in Kansas City. In 1934 he bought the Knob Noster Gem, to become the state's youngest newspaper publisher. He immediately espoused an editorial policy that got him embroiled in verbal duels with other country editors, but which brought him a measure of fame.

Editorials from the Gem were widely reprinted, and had not World War II come along, Saults might have become a sort of Missouri William Allen White. Country newspaper work is fraught with economic perils and the period just prior to the War were ones of hard times for such publications. The Knob Noster Gem had struggled with its budget through the hard times and, just as the Sedalia air base came into being with a promise of easing things, financially, World War II beckoned Saults. He had been waging an editorial war with the forces of fascism, so it was only natural that when hostilities actually broke out he would enlist as a private and go off to the shooting war.

Saults spent four years in service, rising from private to captain and commander of an infantry company. He did stints as motor pool officer in the states and later as battalion intelligence officer overseas. He served through North Africa and the Italian campaign before being mustered out to a new career.

On money saved during the War, Saults began free-lance writing, meeting with some initial success but eventually conceding that free-lance writing was too tough a way to make a living. He came to the Conservation Commission in April, 1947, as editor of the Missouri Conservationist magazine, and was shortly thereafter made chief of publications. In 1949, he became chief of the Information Section, the group charged with getting the Commission's programs before the public. He supervised the publication of Commission bulletins, photographic and motion picture production, and became a national figure in conservation publicity work, largely through his editing of the Conservationist.

It was from this background that the Commission chose Dan Saults to serve as assistant director. In this position his major function will be coordinating the policies and programs of the commission, both within the organization and without.

Democrat-Capital readers, especially those who were fans of the old Knob Noster Gem, will welcome Dan Saults in this new role for "they knew him when."

Army Adopts New Rifle, And A-Shells

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has reported two major weapon changes. It announced the Army's adoption of a new rifle, and confirmed reports U. S. forces have an eight-inch atomic artillery shell.

The Army said yesterday it has formally adopted the new T44 rifle, developed by Army Ordnance, to replace four shoulder weapons—the Garand M1 rifle, the Browning automatic rifle (BAR), the .30-caliber carbine and the M3 submachinegun.

The T44 uses 7.62mm ammunition, the standard adopted for NATO troops. The cartridges are shorter and lighter than the .30-caliber ammunition used in the M1.

The rifle has been tested over the last two years, and money for its production will be asked for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1958.

The Defense Department disclosure that eight-inch atomic shells are in existence came in response to inquiries by reporters over the past several years. The department also said the Army has both eight-inch guns and eight-inch howitzers capable of firing the nuclear ammunition.

About two years ago, the Army was reported seeking a lighter weapon than the 280mm atomic cannon. This gun, like the eight-inch weapons, can fire either conventional or atomic shells.

The 280mm cannon and its tractor weigh 85 tons, compared with 35 tons for the eight-inch cannon and its carriage. The eight-inch howitzer is reported to have a range nearly equal to the 20-mile range reported for the 280mm piece.

Officials Call Attention To New Savings Bond Features

The United States Savings Bonds Division of Missouri calls our attention to the following features of the "new" Series E and H Savings Bonds, all changes making these bonds more attractive to investors in Savings Bonds, especially those buying them on the Payroll Savings Plan.

Regarding Series E Bonds: All E Bonds bearing issue dates of February, 1957, or after, earn 3 1/2 per cent when held to maturity as against the former rate of 3 per cent (compounded semi-annually). They mature nine months earlier—in eight years and 11 months, instead of nine years and eight months. They pay a substantially higher return in the early years of holding, 2 1/2 per cent when held a year as against about 1 1/2 per cent on the old bond, and pay 3 per cent when held three years as against 2 1/4 formerly.

All E bonds will be issued in the same denominations as before and sell for just three-fourths of the maturity price: $18.75 for a $25 bond, $37.50 for a $50 bond, $75 for a $100 bond, etc.

The new terms for E Bonds apply to all Bonds issued February, 1957, or thereafter, regardless of what is printed on the back of the bond. When new bond stock is available, it will carry the new terms.

It is wise to hold old bonds instead of cashing them in to buy new ones, for any bond that is 2 1/2 years old or older and has not reached first maturity already, will earn more than 3 1/4 per cent on its redemption value as it grows to maturity. Even for a buyer who has held a bond less than 2 1/4 years, the increased income he would get by turning it into a new bond is small, not worth the trouble of doing so and running the risk of not buying the new bond. For example: If a buyer bought a $100 bond in October, 1956, and exchanged it in April, 1957, the gain would be only $1.26, or 13 cents a year over the life of the new bond. Or, if a buyer who had bought a $100 bond in October, 1955, the gain would be only 47 cents or 5 cents a year over the life of the new bond. Even for a buyer who bought a $100 bond in January, 1957—the month before the new terms went into effect—the gain would be only $1.46, or 16 cents a year over the life of the new bond.

Those having bonds more than ten years old and that are now in the extension period, should think twice before redeeming them to buy new bonds. A bond which matured May, 1951, through April, 1952, already will earn more than the 3 1/2 per cent on its redemption value to extended maturity. In addition, there is the income tax consideration. Most people pay income tax on the total interest earned on E bonds as of the year in which the bonds are redeemed. Continuing to hold the old bonds means that the tax can be deferred until money is needed, so that interest is earned on the accruing tax liability. In many cases paying the tax earlier will largely offset any gain from the higher rate of interest on the new bond. There is also a tax advantage in continuing to hold old bonds for people who expect to be in a lower tax bracket when they redeem their bonds for retirement income. These income tax advantages to holding the old bonds instead of exchanging them for new ones are considerable.

Regarding Series H Bonds: All H Bonds have also been improved, effective Feb. 1, 1957. These are the bonds which pay interest by government check every six months.

The new H Bonds pay 3 1/2 per cent when held to their full 10-year maturity. They can now be held four months longer at this rate, as their former term of maturity was nine years and eight months. The denominations are the same: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Like the E Bond, the investment return on the H Bond in the early years of holding is substantially higher than was paid on the former bond.

Holders of H Bonds will also find it advantageous to continue holding those they have instead of exchanging them for the "new" Bonds. Any H Bond that is two years old or older already will pay more than 3 1/4 per cent during the remainder of the maturity term.

Because of these more attractive features of the new Series E and H Bonds, the previous calendar limit on purchases by individuals has been lowered, effective May 1, 1957, from $20,000 to $10,000, face amount, for each series. Therefore, investors who have purchased less than $10,000 of each series prior to May 1 will be entitled to purchase only enough to bring their 1957 total for each to $10,000 face amount.

To sum up: It is best to continue to hold your old E Bonds, for they are steadily earning money for you.

Wins Third Place In Horsemanship Class

Jimmie Dean Mayfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mayfield, Ottumwa, won third prize in the children's horsemanship class at the Booneville Horse Show Sunday, April 28.

It is wise to buy "new" E Bonds, for their terms are advantageous and they are sound investments for many other reasons besides their attractive interest return. Their most outstanding "extra" features are:

Indestructibility — THE Treasury will replace any Bonds that are lost, stolen, mutilated or destroyed. Guaranteed rate of return over a period of years;

Guaranteed redemption values—they are not subject to the risks of market fluctuations;

Can be cashed anywhere in the country upon proper identification of owner; and Backed by the full faith and credit of the United States of America.

Studies Rates Hike

WASHINGTON —The House Post Office Committee today begins closed-door consideration of increased postal rates — a key-stone in the Eisenhower legislative program.

The committee is expected to take a week before coming to a decision on what it will recommend to the House.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn) has said the increases were necessary to help put the Post Office Department on a sound business basis.

The bill would add about 52 1/2 millions to postal revenues by 1961, with 462 millions in the first year. It includes a penny increase on 3-cent and 6-cent airmail stamps.

Steelworker Admits Killing Two Women

GARY, Ind. (AP) — A steelworker's signed statement yesterday solved two sex killings. Police planned to question the young man about a third slaying, that of a Gary schoolteacher in 1949.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Sandor Singer said George Robert Brown, 25, signed a statement admitting he killed Mrs. Mildred Grigoris, 29-year-old East Gary beautician, and Lana Brock, a 16-year-old New Chicago, Ind., schoolgirl, in rape attempts.

Singer planned to question Brown about the slaying of Miss Mary Cheever, a Gary schoolteacher who was beaten to death in an alley near her home eight years ago. The case had been considered robbery, or possibly a revenge killing.

Chicago authorities also asked that Brown be questioned about the deaths of the Grimes sisters, Patricia, 13, and Barbara, 15, whose nude, frozen bodies were found northwest of Chicago Jan. 22.

Mrs. Grigoris disappeared last Aug. 17. Her body was located Tuesday when Brown led police to her grave.

Miss Brock disappeared Sept. 24. Her body was discovered Oct. 2.

Singer said Brown on Tuesday admitted the killing of Mrs. Grigoris, at the time he showed officers her grave, and admitted the Brock killing yesterday. The two graves were a little more than a half a mile apart, at opposite ends of an airport runway at nearby New Chicago.

date is controlling in determining the exemption of property from taxation?"

The opinion states that the law stipulates that a tax lien takes effect on the first day of the year, and that this lien will continue in force until fully satisfied.

It also quotes a Federal District Court ruling on a case in 1946 in St. Louis in which the federal government had taken over property on Jan. 16 by eminent domain and sought tax exemption for the rest of the year. The court ruled: "We are clear that under the Statutes of Missouri and the decisions of its Appellate Courts, tax liens in Missouri may not be prorated or apportioned even though a tax immune authority has acquired the property."

Visitor to Vatican
Treasure Uses Hammer
VATICAN CITY (AP) — A visitor to the Vatican's treasure rooms whipped a hammer from his pocket yesterday and smashed the glass of a cabinet containing two diamond-studded crowns.

While other visitors watched in amazement, Vatican guards moved in and subdued the youth in a brief tussle before he could reach the crowns. Vatican police identified him as Remo Presutti, 24, of Sulmona, Italy.

Authorities said it was not certain whether he was attempting to make off with the treasures or acted on an impulse. They said an investigation would be made before deciding whether to take action against him.

Church Head Says Church Aided NAACP
COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — The moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., last night confirmed a Ku Klux Klan statement that the church gave $10,000 to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to pay off a damage suit.

The South Carolina Klan said yesterday that the church (the Northern branch) gave the money to the NAACP to use in an out-of-court settlement of a suit brought by Atty. Shepherd K. Nash, Sumter, S. C.

The moderator, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake said in Chicago: "I gave them $10,000 from church funds on the authority of the assembly."

Church Head Says Church Aided NAACP

The Klan statement, authorized by Robert E. Hodges, kligrapp (secretary) of the Columbia klavern, asserted: "Few Americans and fewer Presbyterians ever thought they would see the day when the Presbyterian Church would sink so low in the mire of social gospel politics as to raise funds for the race-mixing activities of the Communist-dominated National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People."

The NAACP has said it has no Communist influence in its leadership.

The Klan based its statement on an article in the Jan. 6 issue of Presbyterian Life magazine.

A Presbyterian spokesman in Philadelphia said that a representative of the church's Division of Social Welfare investigated the case. Then, he said, the offer to help was made to the Sumter NAACP chapter "as offers are similarly made wherever help is needed and the church feels it has a duty to perform."

Nash sued the NAACP for $120,000 for libel. He banked the out-of-court settlement and said he would return it to Negro contributors to the fund if the NAACP would furnish a list of the donors and would file no school integration suit in Sumter County in the next 10 years.

He put a six-month deadline on his offer, which will expire about May 20. Otherwise, Nash said he would give the money to the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children at Greenville, S. C., and the Sumter First Presbyterian Church, a member of the Southern branch.

Criticism of the Klan by the Southern Presbyterians' 97th General Assembly in Birmingham, Ala., yesterday touched off the Klan's statement. The assembly censured the Klan as an organization "whose purpose is to gain its point by intimidation, reprisal and violence."

The Second Adventure

There seems to be no more than tepid interest today in a sea voyage which 337 years ago was a bold adventure.

In the cartoon to the right one might imagine the Nautilus captain's companion a newspaper reporter and both gazing with a feeling of nostalgia at the full sailed Mayflower II, exclaiming: "Those were the good old days."

In 1620 when the first Mayflower set out on its fateful voyage the passengers were indeed adventurers, call them escapist if you will. Nevertheless they were men and women seeking a freer life and willing to face unknown dangers by breaking contact with all mankind until landing on a none too hospitable shore to accomplish great things. The home folks in England had no way of knowing the destination was successfully reached until the Mayflower completed its round trip of many months.

The duplicate or one-way voyage of the sturdy little Mayflower II was given a fair play in the world press last month, but what would modern newspapers have done with the story of the sailing in 1620. Perhaps big headlines even though the elements of later developments could not be foreseen. Who then could have known about a Plymouth Rock or the harsh conditions the Pilgrims were to face not only in the crossing but in their new home where their performance in subsequent pages of history was to reflect sacrifice for the ideal of freedom.

How would the modern press have handled the story of the Mayflower II? The closest parallel in recent times was the "Lone Eagle" Lindbergh's first flight across the Atlantic to Paris. Newspapers emblazoned this daring adventure while the world waited breathlessly for its culmination. Here was history in the making, too.

Certainly there is drama in the voyage of the Mayflower II which when anchored off Plymouth, Massachusetts, will become an inspiration for present and future generations who climb on board.

Unlike the first Mayflower the present tiny ship keeps contact with the world by means of radio communication, and no doubt encounters many huge vessels on the ocean's modern traffic way to alleviate fear and loneliness, providing, of course, the passengers didn't smuggle aboard a television set.

Since the tiny ship sailed out of sight of the English coast there has been scarcely a word of her until Tuesday when a six-line item out of London noted that the Mayflower II had reported by radio it was about 500 miles west of the Straits of Gibraltar, traveling at a speed of six and one-half knots toward the Azores.

The casualness with which the present voyage is being treated, as one scarcely in the adventure classification, may well cause modern mariners to yearn "for the good old days," when hardy Pilgrims sought faith's pure shrine to try the fair adventure of tomorrow aboard "the simple Mayflower of the salt-sea mead."

The World Today

Ike Is Still Undecided on Budget Fight

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower still looks undecided on making a slam-bang fight for his budget and his programs which appear in danger of being massacred in Congress.

He's had four months in 1957 to fight, and he's done very little. With Congress now half over, it's pretty late to start punching. Besides, it's contrary to his political nature. His policy has been to do as little fighting as possible.

But for some of the jeopardy to his budget he can thank the confusion in his own administration. Just before he returned from his latest vacation this week there were reports — attributed to anonymous close associates — that he was coming back determined to start swinging for what he requested of Congress.

But even after a White House conference with his own Republican congressional leaders yesterday there was still uncertainty about what he'll do and how. He may, but it's not sure, go on television to seek public support for his programs.

James Hagerty, his press secretary, told reporters Eisenhower "feels a great deal of misrepresentation" has been circulated about his budget and he is "going to point it out."

What good is that going to do when some of the Republican leaders who talked with him yesterday — specifically Sen. Knowland of California, Republican leader in the Senate, and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican leader in the House — want Eisenhower's budget cut over his protests?

It would seem that if the President needs to persuade anyone, the place to start is with his own Republicans in Congress. It must have been with unconscious irony that Knowland and told reporters when he came out of the White House.

"I think it would be helpful from time to time for the President to go on the air, as well as before his press conferences, to discuss his views."

Helpful to whom? Knowland shows no signs of changing his views. As Senate Republican leader, it might seem Knowland would be fighting for Eisenhower. He has on some issues. But he has repeatedly opposed the President on others.

But he says he has no intention of resigning his Senate leadership to make way for someone who would see eye to eye with Eisenhower more often. And it's almost a cinch that Eisenhower, who seems to dread a showdown with Congress, won't ask him to quit.

Eisenhower's troubles with his budget really began in his own administration, either because he can't control those closest to him or because of failure within the administration to decide on a policy and stick to it.

On the very day that Eisenhower offered his budget to Congress, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was suggesting it could be cut by several billion dollars. This apparent confusion in the administration focused attention on the budget and was a wide-open invitation to Democrats and Republicans alike to start chopping on it.

Humphrey never, under congressional questioning, has said where a dime could be cut. Instead, after Congress started to take away some of the money he asked to run his own department, he wanted part of it restored.

On the very day Eisenhower said the budget shouldn't be cut as much as two billion dollars, Treasury Undersecretary W. Randolph Burgess was suggesting to Congress it could be reduced that much.

And Secretary of Commerce Weeks, after almost blithely encouraging Congress to ax the budget, went pleading to get back some of the money which Congress, taking him at his word, decided to cut out of Commerce Department funds.

Parade in New York Will Honor 67 Heroes

NEW YORK (AP) — A parade up lower Broadway today honors 67 Navy and Marine Corps heroes — including 45 retired admirals and eight four-star generals — as part of Operation Remember.

The program — sponsored by the Navy League of the United States during its 55th annual convention — pays homage to Navy and Marine Corps personnel who fought in both world wars and in Korea.

The parade, with many units of the armed forces taking part, will start at Battery Park and go up Broadway to City Hall, where they will be greeted by Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Warships here for the "Parade of Warships" include the Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine.

Fleet Adm. William F. Halsey (ret) was among those who arrived here by plane yesterday from Annapolis, where they were guests of the U. S. Naval Academy.

State, County or City, but the principle is the same.

The Constitutions of the United States and of Missouri guarantees that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation, nor without due process of law. These rights are yours even when the government itself takes your land through "eminent domain." The proper legal procedures for protection of your property rights are established by constitution and law. You are entitled to legal representation at all stages of condemnation.

Worry Can Affect Speech

Parents Must Try to Allay Child's Self-Consciousness

By LEON K. WHITNEY

Speech Therapist

Crippled Children's Center

Two common causes of emotional disturbance that may lessen progress in acquiring good speech are worry about poor speech, and irritation or self-consciousness from being made fun of. When a child's speech progress is not up to par, the child's expectations, they may become fearful that there is something wrong with the child to cause his slow progress. The damaging effects of such worry comes when the child learns that his parents are worried. He sees a worried look on their faces when he speaks. Their worry shows in their voices and in their entire attitude when they over-eagerly try to get him to speak differently. He may even hear them asking each other what can be wrong.

Worrying is catching. The child is likely to become worried about what is wrong with himself when he knows that his parents are worrying. He becomes unsure of himself, confused. His speech muscles become tense, and his ability to imitate the sounds his parents make becomes more difficult. He tries harder, but the harder he tries the poorer results he gets, it seems. If a waiter becomes fearful of spilling hot coffee on the bare shoulder of Mrs. Moneybags, he is likely to spill the coffee. Muscles become less manageable when there is fear they will function poorly. The child who becomes worried about his not being able to talk better is poorly conditioned for speech improvement. The worried child is even in real danger of becoming a stutterer.

It is imperative that parents do not permit their children to get an impression that they are worried about their speech. Children must not hear remarks to any one about concern that the speech is not improving faster. They must not see signs of anxiety as parents listen to their speech or try to stimulate an anticipated pleasure from talking. Helping with speech should be quite as incidentally accomplished as helping to get a coat zipper started. Children must always feel that, speech and all, they are all right kids with the entire family. When parents "just know there is something wrong," they should consult a speech therapist.

Good natured teasing and being teased is an essential part of living. It adds spice to life. Teasing a person about some defect, however, is likely not to be accepted by the one being teased as good natured. Such teasing is usually not in good taste. It is likely, (1) to make the victim self-conscious about his defect, and (2) result in his thinking people don't like him because of it.

Of course much defective speech is funny. It is easy to see why, "I thee," for, "I see"; "wabbit" for "rabbit"; "I fink so," for "I think so" would come in for much teasing. As already indicated, a reasonable amount of teasing is healthy, if we learn to take it right. But there is a limit for most of us, and particularly for small children. It is hoped that parents can protect their children against too much teasing about peculiarities in their speech. They can usually control teasing by members of the family, including "funny" uncles. They may not have control over teasing by playmates.

It is important to condition children to take teasing without irritation or embarrassment. Giving him the feeling of being completely accepted in the family is the first necessary step. The second step will be to get him to believe this very important fact: "Nearly always, when people laugh at our peculiarities, they are not doing it to be mean, nor because they don't like us. They are doing it to have fun. In the same spirit in which they throw snowballs at each other. Kids don't throw snowballs only at those they don't like. Friends pepper them at each other, too. A baldheaded man gets teased by his friends, seldom by people who do not like him. Teasing is really a sign the kids do like us."

"Both in throwing snowballs and in being teased, the fun is likely to change to meanness when the victim gets angry, or goes to crying. But if he will enter into the snowballing, and the teasing, to have some fun himself, he will have from teasing the best evidence he needs that he is liked by the kids."

Parents will find the child who has come to dislike being teased will have a hard time believing this to be true, but leading him to believe it is the best way to prevent delayed speech due to becoming self-conscious about being teased.

Next: Stuttering.

Piece of Rope Holds 3-Car Train Together

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — A piece of rope literally held together a three-car New Haven Railroad train as it limped from Providence to New London, Conn., 55 minutes late yesterday.

A broken power cable between the second and third cars disabled the train. Fireman Russell R. Hannon rode between the cars holding the ends of the cable together for several miles.

In East Greenwich some heavy cord was obtained and the cable was tied together until the train reached New London.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

"Worries" used to be the cause of many illnesses and much mental suffering. Now, we give less attention to "worries" than we do to "tensions." These "tensions" cause "frustrations" which in turn create psychosomatic ailments.

Whatever words we use to describe our feelings of dissatisfaction we know that our mental and physical processes are related to each other in some real way. Relief from worries, tensions and frustrations does not result from always having our own way.

People who take their troubles to God may not receive the cash to pay their bills, nor the medicine to heal their open wounds. But those who talk to God find a measure of comfort and peace of mind which is not found in any other way.

No trouble, no illness or no concern is too small or too great to discuss with our Heavenly Father. And the results are extremely satisfying.

The Drugged Public

Are tranquilizers and aspirin drugging the American people into a stupified state?

The latest statistics show that 12 billion aspirin tablets are taken yearly in the United States which is equivalent to 6,000 tons of the drug according to the National Institute of Health.

The facts that aspirin is the cheapest of the drugs used as a pain killer, a fever-reducer and anti-rheumatic drug, and is also one of the best advertised partly explain its extensive use? The people who use aspirin must get relief or they would not continue to consume so many pills. But the institute says, "so far comparatively little is known of the way it acts in the body."

The tranquilizer drugs have proved beneficial in ulcer cases and nervous and mental diseases, but the abuse of them without medical knowledge or supervision could be harmful.

For a great many people, a little more will power, a little more self-confidence and a little more positive thinking would be far more helpful than trying to escape from responsibility or an imaginary illness with the aid of a tranquilizing pill or an aspirin tablet.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Bridges' Appointee Investigates Bridges

JACK ANDERSON

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a newsgathering trip outside Washington, his associate, Jack Anderson, writes the Merry-Go-Round.)

WASHINGTON—Senate probe of the Northeast airlines stock scandal has uncovered tracks pointing to Sen. Styles Bridges' office (R., N. H.), yet the chief investigator now following those tracks is Bridges' political appointee.

He is able, amiable Don O'Donnell of Manchester, N. H., who was brought to Washington by the man he is now supposed to be investigating. He has already let one key figure in the investigation, whose testimony might embarrass Bridges, take off for South America on the eve of the Senate hearings.

O'Donnell's job is to find who leaked word prematurely last August that the Civil Aeronautics board had granted Northeast the profitable New York-Miami route. The morning after the secret CAB vote, insiders made a killing in Northeast stock.

Among those who rushed out to buy stock before it jumped from $9.15 to $12.50 a share were three of Bridges' aides—Chester Wiggin, Tom Shannon and Dick Eddy. They made modest purchases through the Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis brokerage firm.

Bigger windfalls went to two other Bridges henchmen, Lowell Mayberry of Boston and Milt Shapiro of Concord, N. H., who got a free ride on the stock market the same morning. Shapiro reportedly bought 500 shares early in the morning while the price was still rock bottom.

How Bridges' office got the advance tip hasn't been positively proved. It may be significant, however, that another Bridges man who present when the CAB reached its secret decision. He is CAB's chief investigator, Jimmy Anton, who formerly worked for Bridges on Capitol Hill.

Skips Country

Though Anton's testimony is considered important, O'Donnell gave him permission to take a two-week junket to South America while the hearings are going on. Anton was careful to get O'Donnell's okay before leaving the country.

Sources close to the investigation charge that O'Donnell is trying to swing the spotlight away from Bridges and focus on others who may also have had inside information. For example, Larry Henderson represented a New England combine that was trying to buy millionaire Floyd Odlum's controlling interest in Northeast. The morning of the stock-market leak, Henderson made three long-distance calls to New England. One who was called, Forrester Clark of Boston, bought stock.

Robert Oliver, an attorney for Delta Airlines, also made several phone calls to Georgia. At least six Atlanta, Ga., speculators cashed in

Guest Editorial—

BIRDSBORO (Penna.) DISPATCH: Capital Punishment — We wonder what the outcome will be in the legislative halls in Harrisburg, if House Bill No. 42 should come to a vote. This bill would abolish the death sentence and substitute for it life imprisonment.

The purpose of any sentence is three-fold: one, to protect society; two, to punish crime, and three, to reform the criminal, and possibly a fourth purpose exists, to deter others from committing the same crime. On these last two points the death sentence fails; surely a dead murderer is not reformed, and certainly the death sentence does not deter, for states without the death penalty have no more cases of murder than their neighbor states who execute for murder.

Our contention is that the certainty of punishment is much more efficient deterrent than is the severity of the sentence, and nothing could be more certain than the administration of the death penalty. . . .

Quarterly Reports Would Stop

Proposed Bill Would Cut Number of Detail SS Reports

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on April 26 sent to Congress legislation designed to eliminate each year about 13 million detailed quarterly wage reports which employers must now file for social security purposes.

Under the proposed legislation, the employer would continue to file one annual report for each employee on the present income tax withholding statement (Form W-2). The employer also would continue to file quarterly tax reports but without listing individual employees and their earnings.

The government would use the Forms W-2 both for social security records and income tax withholding. The provisions on eligibility for social security benefits, now on a quarterly basis, would also be placed on an annual basis.

The proposed plan would reduce by at least one-half the number of wage items that have to be processed by the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance; the reduction would be as high as three-fourths but for the fact that a substantial number of employers work for more than one employer in the course of a year. Without the change, it is estimated that the number of wage items that would have to be processed each year would reach nearly 260 million in 1959.

The plan also would improve tax administration. The Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance would match mechanically the Forms W-2 filed by employers with the copies attached by wage earners to their income tax returns. Discrepancies in tax reporting by employers or employees would be referred to the Internal Revenue Service.

The employee would have an automatic means of checking each year on the accuracy of the earnings reported for him for social security. The employee's copy of Form W-2 would be an exact duplicate of the information his employer reported for social security purposes. Thus, each year when he attached Form W-2 to his income tax return, the employee would be able to notify the Government of any errors in his social security account that might have resulted from errors on Form W-2. If a state, within five years after enactment of the bill, changed the

Sugar Ray Outsmarts the Experts, Crumples Fullmer to Regain Crown

Decks Heavyweight Champ In Fifth With Whistling Left

CHICAGO (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who pumps his own fountain of youth with two deadly fists, today was headed for the greatest payoff of his miraculous ring career — a mid-July bout with welterweight champ Carmen Basilio.

Robinson, celebrating his 37th birthday tomorrow, was the marvel of the fistic realm after his fifth-round knockout last night of middleweight champion Gene Fullmer to become the first man ever to win the 160-pound title four times.

A 3½-1 underdog, Robinson lured the 25-year-old Fullmer into false confidence in the nationally televised bout at the Chicago Stadium and then paralyzed him with a devastating left hook in 1:27 of the fifth round.

Fullmer, who had dethroned Robinson at New York Jan. 2, foolishly abandoned his rushing, brawling tactics of that fight and thought he could match Sugar Ray flurries for flurries last night. It didn't work.

The kill actually started in the fourth round. With less than a minute left, Robinson slashed Fullmer with a series of punches, culminated with a left hook to the head. Instead of retreating, the West Jordan, Utah, toughie tried to prove with a burst of his own that he wasn't hurt.

The fifth started with Fullmer pressing, but missing. Robinson moved in with a stiff right to the body. Sugar Ray drove another right to the body. Fullmer's guard dropped away down. Then Robinson whistled the left hook to the jaw.

Fullmer crumpled to the floor. He writhed and rolled as Referee Frank Sikora counted to 10. Gene finally struggled to his feet, but the fight was over.

This 140th victory—and his 91st knockout in 153 pro bouts since 1940—pointed Robinson for a meeting with welterweight champ Basilio probably at Yankee Stadium in mid-July, which could bring the biggest gate in ring history under the light heavy division.

Fullmer's manager Marv Jensen blamed his fighter's defeat on his desire to fight a "spectacular" battle.

We kept warning him in the corner to keep high," said Jensen. The bewildered Fullmer said in his dressing room "that's the first time I ever got knocked out and I don't know how it happened."

All three officials had Fullmer ahead by a close 19-18 margin after four rounds.

The crowd was announced as 14,757 paid with a gross gate of $158,643 and a net of $124,647. That was sweetened by a $100,000 radio-TV fee and the share to each fighter, on a 30-30 basis, was a total of $67,394 apiece.

Robinson, who weighed 159½ against Fullmer's 159½, explained he was "just maneuvering" Fullmer.

"I used a right as a decoy," said Sugar Ray. "I wanted a clean shot with my left. I finally got it."

Bold Ruler Becomes Probable Favorite For Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bold Ruler, the long-striding dark bay colt from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, today became the probable favorite for the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby Saturday.

The question of whether his injured arch rival Gen. Duke of Calumet Farm will start remained unanswered.

Gen. Duke, who broke even with Bold Ruler in four Florida races and set a world record for a mile and one eighth in the Florida Derby, first showed signs of the injury hours after he finished a disappointing second to Clifford Lusky's Federal Hill in Tuesday's Derby Trial.

Moore Dodges NBA Warning About Defense

ESSEN, Germany (AP)—A pudgy Archie Moore today slipped inside a warning puffed from the National Boxing Assn., which threatens to suspend the light heavyweight champ unless he defends his crown by July 7, with a maybe - I will - and maybe - I won't answer to the ultimatum.

"Look at me, man," said Moore. "I'm 30 pounds overweight. Who wants to see me in a title fight in this shape?"

The old guy whose age figures to be somewhere around 40 — probably over — didn't have to tell anyone he was overweight. He was a flabby and puffing champ as he somehow lasted 10 rounds to outpoint Hans Kalbfell, Germany's third ranked heavyweight, yesterday.

Moore was 206½ pounds, Kalbfell 210.

The NBA released its ultimatum to the press in Chicago at just about the same time Moore was wrapping up his fight here. In brief, the NBA told Moore he'll face suspension unless he defends against New Yorker Tony Anthony "as scheduled" in Detroit June 7, and the U. S. boxing authority will vacate the title if he doesn't get around to making a defense by July 7.

"If I keep working hard and they give me time to train," said Moore, "I may be ready in a month."

Yesterday's bout was Moore's first since his heavyweight title hopes were junked by Floyd Patterson in the fifth round of their championship fight at Chicago Nov. 30. To meet the June 7th deadline, he'll have to shed 31½ pounds in a little more than a month to make the 175-pound light heavy limit.

RED WAS READY—New York Giants' second baseman Red Schoendienst skids into first base a fraction ahead of the throw for a stolen base in the first inning of the Giants-Milwaukee Braves game in New York, May 1. ## Score Seems Sure to Average Nine Strikeouts a Game Again

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press
Young Herb Score, Cleveland's sensational strikeout artist, appears primed to average at least nine strikeouts a game for the third consecutive season.

No other pitcher has had such an average in one season.

In 1955, as a rookie, Score averaged 9.50 strikeouts. In '56, it was 9.59. Now he is striking out batters faster than ever—10 a game.

The 23-year-old southpaw fanned a dozen in 6 1-3 innings yesterday before he was routed by Washington in the seventh but Cleveland fought back to nip the Senators 7-6.

The high-flying Chicago White Sox continued at full steam, rolling over Baltimore 9-3, increasing their first-place lead over runner-up Boston to two games.

The Red Sox, who had won six of seven on foreign soil, dropped a 7-5 decision in Kansas City. The New York Yankees whipped Detroit 7-4.

Milwaukee's Braves snapped back after Tuesday night's shutout loss, defeating the New York Giants 5-1 in 10 innings to retain their one-game margin over Brooklyn. The Dodgers trounced Chicago 7-2 behind the seventh-pitching of young Don Drysdale. St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 9-2 to take sole possession of third place. Wally Post singled in two runs in the top of the 16th inning to give the Cincinnati Reds an 8-6 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

A single by Vic Wertz, scoring two of Cleveland's three runs in the seventh, gave the Indians their come-from-behind victory. In the upper half of the inning, Washington routed Score after he had held the Senators to one hit.

Don Mossi relieved Herb and Milt Bolling greeted him with a three-run homer to give the Senators a temporary 6-4 lead. Ray Narleski, in relief, picked up his third victory without defeat.

Minnie Minoso drove across four runs with a double, two singles and a sacrifice fly for the White Sox to help Jack Harshman gain his third triumph without a defeat.

Tiger Golfers Again Beaten By Columbia

Columbia's Kewpies were convincing to the Smith-Cotton golf squad Wednesday when they captured the second straight dual meet with the Tigers by the score of 8-7. The meet, a Central Missouri Conference event, was played on Columbia's Forest Hills Country Club course.

Mike Williams led the host linksters with a three-over-par 39-36—75 performance to win medalist honors. It was also good enough to take all three points in his individual match with Smith-Cotton's Vic Van Dyne, who paced the Tigers with 41-38-79.

Sedalia's Dick Sklar and Tom Austin grabbed all the points from their opponents Sklar finished in 41-39-80 against Rex Stone's 47-47-94, and Austin finished fast with a 42-38-80 to top Tom Stone's 43-40-83.

Mike Lee and Loy Holman picked up a half-point apiece for Smith-Cotton. Lee's 43-39-82 compared with Dick Garrison's 39-39-78, while Holman went the 18-hole distance in 49-45-94 against 46-45-83 registered by Jim Baird.

The Sedalians will play their next meet here Friday against Mexico on the Countryview course. Then on Monday they will enter competition for the conference championship to be held at Columbia.

Warren Spahn Says He Rates 'Suspect Stage'

NEW YORK (AP)—There are three stages in the career of a baseball pitcher, says Milwaukee's Warren Spahn—"prospect, mainstay and suspect."

"At 36, I'm now in the suspect class," added the lean left-hander who yesterday set down the New York Giants in 10 innings 5-1 to become the first pitcher in the majors to win four games.

"That is, let me falter just once or have a couple of bad games and people will start suspecting I'm getting too old."

Spahn, who having won 209 games now has set his sights on 300 victories, said he felt his greatest problem was to keep his bosses' attention riveted on his won-lost record rather than on his advancing age.

"I think I've succeeded in that pretty well, but, like any other pitcher who is in the middle 30s, I'm conscious that I'm not just pitching from day to day. I'm pitching from man to man. I have to watch the young men coming up. Once I hesitate they're ready to step in."

"But as long as I can keep winning — even as I'm standing on my head out there — I know that my age will make no difference."

cord and the National League. Cards are two notches higher with 6-5. But both used similar attacks in gaining victories yesterday afternoon—timely hitting and superb relief pitching.

Virgil Trucks shut out the Boston Red Sox on two hits in 6 2/3 innings for his third win against no losses after the Red Sox clobbered Tom Morgan for five runs in the first two innings. The A's retaliated by whacking starter Dave Sisler for eight hits and six runs in the same frames, and then rode the strong arm of Trucks to a 7-5 decision at Kansas City.

In Pittsburgh, the final score was 9-2 St. Louis, but the margin is deceiving. Bob Purkey and the Pirates had a 1-0 advantage through 5 innings over Willard Schmidt and St. Louis as a result of a first inning run.

Handcuffed on two hits for five innings, the Cards pounded out four in the sixth, good for three runs. In the seventh, Pittsburgh had scored another run and had the tying run on before Manager

Onetime Ace Proves He Has Control Yet

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Age has extinguished the fire in the fast ball of Virgil Trucks, but the big righthander who once awed American League batters with his speed has won new prominence in the Kansas City bullpen.

Trucks came to the A's last winter in a multi-player trade. Although he hasn't started a game this season, the veteran tops the league's pitchers, along with Chicago's Jack Harshman, with a gaudy 3-0 record.

In his finest performance of the young season, Trucks took over yesterday in the third inning with one out and the bases loaded with Boston players. He got the first batter on a shallow fly, with no advance by the runner, and the next one on a ground ball.

For the next six innings, Trucks shut out the powerful Red Sox on two singles and in one stretch retired 14 batters in order. The A's won 7-5.

The 3-0 record of Trucks, who has spent 17 of his 37 years as a major league pitcher, is even more impressive when compared to the Athletics' won-loss mark of 7-7. He's appeared in four games, pitching 14 2/3 innings, and allowing five runs on 9 hits. Trucks has fanned seven batters and walked only four.

In the dressing room yesterday, Trucks took a long time "cooling off" and exchanging banter with his jubilant teammates. Someone asked if the 6 2/3 innings he pitched was the longest stretch he'd worked this year.

"I think that's the farthest I've gone in three years," he replied with a laugh, and then added: "actually, it's the longest I've pitched since early last season."

Detroit used their onetime ace mostly in relief last season, and he posted a 6-5 record.

The Brooklyn Dodgers own five minor league clubs—Los Angeles, Montreal, St. Paul, Macon, Ga., and Thomasville, Ga. They have working agreements with seven other teams.

Davis said the telecasts would originate from KMBC-TV here and would be carried on a network with stations in Colorado, Iowa,

Finds That Early Knowledge Of Poisons Denotes Progress

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If you suspect someone is putting poison in your evening yogurt, cheer up. It may not be, as your friends insist, a delusion. You might be right.

Dr. Theodore C. Osius, writing on the historic art of poisoning in the University of Michigan's "Medical Bulletin," says: "It is estimated that 50 per cent of the murders are unsolved each year, and it may be that secret poisoning is even now far more frequent than is generally believed."

The reason for the popularity of poison as a murder weapon throughout all the ages of man is put succinctly by Dr. Osius.

"Even when poisoning cases come to trial, the medico legal problems make it difficult to reach a clear verdict," he says.

An early knowledge of poisons is a hallmark of almost any civilization; indeed, it is a test of civilization.

Dr. Osius points out that Menes, the first Pharaoh—3,000 B.C.—was familiar not only with mineral poisons but also such vegetable poisons.

Poison has at times been used as an instrument of government policy from the heyday of the ancient Greeks to Nazi Germany.

During the 16th and 17th centuries in Venice, the government even officially recorded its poison victims, the reasons they were assassinated, and the fees paid.

"One specialist in murder, John of Ragusa, offered a selection of poisons and proposed victims," writes Dr. Osius.

"Five hundred ducats was his price for a great Sultan, 150 for the King of Spain, 60 for the Duke of Milan, 50 for the Marquis of Mantua, and 100 for the Pope."

But he makes clear that the art of administering poisons has always been one field in which women have enjoyed equal rights. Often the female of the species has been far deadlier than the male.

For example, a gal named Locusta was official poisoner in ordinary to the Emperor Nero, who even provided her with slaves to experiment on. She repaid him nobly by helping him bump off his stepbrother, his mother and his wives.

But the queen of all lady poisoners was Toffana, a Renaissance vixen in Naples, who numbered among her 600 victims two Popes and a large number of socially prominent husbands whose only crime was that they bored their wives.

A real creative girl, Toffana's favorite poison was a cosmetic. Rub a little on your skin after shaving, boys—and hello undertaker!

Somebody with political pull finally got annoyed at her fun-loving, girlish pranks, so they stretched her on the rack until she confessed, then strangled her. Her nearest male rival in modern times was Landru, the French "Bluebeard," who obtained the life savings of 283 women by posing as a well-to-do widower. He abandoned some of his victims, poisoned others.

Oddly, since they practice the subtlest method of murder, poisoners are notoriously conservative about the poisons they rely on. They are rarely adventurous.

"Unusual poisons are the exception," concludes Dr. Osius on a note of disapproval. "Throughout history the poisoner has used the same drugs and methods and has continued to make the same mistakes as his predecessors."

Dream of Vacation Becomes Nightmare But Has Happy Ending

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. James P. Joyce's dream of a vacation tour through Ireland turned into a nightmare . . . a nightmare with a happy ending.

Her original dream was coming true in a big way in March, a year ago, as she and her husband rode—sightseeing—through Ireland.

Then an auto crash. Mrs. Joyce was hospitalized with a shattered arm and leg.

A tall, pretty girl came to Mrs. Joyce from St. Vincent Hospital, Dublin, to care for her as she convalesced in a hotel. Elisabeth Mayer had left Hungary after the war with her parents, who were now in West Germany. She was helping them with her earnings.

Mrs. Joyce wrote her soldier-son Jimmy in Japan about the tall, pretty girl. She said she had agreed to come to America to care for her.

Jimmy's out of the Army now and in the insurance business like his dad.

And a tall, pretty nurse at Holyoke Hospital, named Elisabeth Mayer, has stopped worrying about visa renewals. She has something better—a diamond engagement ring from Jimmy.

Doesn't Like Yellow Hydrant; Color Clash

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Wilson painted the fenceposts in her yard white. Then she noticed that a fire hydrant with a "sickening looking yellow" top clashed with her fenceposts.

She called the fire department and was told the top of the hydrant had to be yellow because of a code the department used to classify hydrants.

The fireman said a man would be out to paint it yellow again.

Showers Fall In Widespread Areas of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More rain fell in water-soaked sections of Texas and showery weather was reported in widespread areas of the nation today.

A low-pressure area centered near the Louisiana coast and caused rain throughout the south-east quarter of the country. Heavy rainfall hit some areas, with Miami measuring a little more than 7 inches in 24 hours.

Cloudbursts struck the Trinity River watershed in north central Texas, causing flash floods in the Dallas area. The wet belt extended over much of the eastern half of Texas.

In Texas, hit by violent spring storms and floods for two weeks, the Sabine and Trinity rivers appeared the danger spots as threats of overflows eased along other streams.

Some 1,000 residents of Deweyville, near Orange, Tex., prepared to evacuate their homes as the flooding Sabine surged downstream.

Two more drownings were reported in the high waters in Texas yesterday, making a total of 16 in the spring floods. An estimated 35,000 acres of land are flooded and more than 9,000 persons been forced to leave their homes.

Clear skies prevailed in the Northeast portion of the country but scattered showers or thunder-showers were in prospect from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Songstress Receives Mysterious Jewelry, Hands It to Police

NEW YORK (AP)—Songstress Jane Morgan turned over to authorities a diamond wrist watch with 146 stones, a bracelet with six emeralds and diamond chips, and a 14-karat white gold chain yesterday.

The platinum blonde told this story:

A little man approached her in the lobby of the Hotel Pierre—where she is appearing—Tuesday night, handed her a cardboard box and said, "This is for you."

The man left after asking Miss Morgan to sign a receipt.

Inside the container was a wooden box holding the jewelry—valued at $2,000. She said she declined to go to police after discussing the mystery with friends.

If the jewelry is not claimed within 90 days, police said, she may keep it—with no strings attached.

Miss Morgan, who says she will be "about 28" years old tomorrow, told newsmen: "I'm a simple buys her own mink coats."

Steinbeck Is Named An Oklahoma Booster

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Years after "The Grapes of Wrath" was published, author John Steinbeck was criticized in Oklahoma for his account of the trek westward by the state's dust bowl victims.

Gov. Raymond Gary yesterday named Steinbeck to his official staff of "Oklahoma Boosters."

Dale Named State Palsy Chairman

Mayor Stanley I. Dale, Jr., St. Joseph, has been selected as state chairman for the second successive year of the May campaign to be conducted by the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Missouri, UCP President Fred Timberlake, Kansas City, announced.

"Golden Deed Crusade" is the theme of the month-long drive which will open May 1 in areas unaffiliated with United Fund.

In accepting the chairmanship, Mayor Dale said the theme is particularly appropriate since it is "a human trait to want to do a Golden Deed which will benefit the less fortunate. This is especially true of the American public which is known the world over for its generosity and concern for those in need of help," he added.

"In this connection," Mayor Dale commented, "we have a duty to see that the 12,000 children and adults of Missouri who are afflicted with cerebral palsy receive the best treatment and training so they can become self-reliant to the greatest degree possible."

He noted that United Cerebral Palsy's national research program offers the greatest assurance of improvement to these thousands of Missouri citizens.

In 1955 Mayor Dale served as campaign chairman for the Greater St. Joseph United Cerebral Palsy affiliate. He was the youngest mayor in St. Joseph's history when he was elected for a first term in 1950 at the age of 29.

Mayor Dale, who is married and has two children, served with the Army in the South Pacific during World War II.

S. S. Classes Hold Regular Meetings

The Ottumville Baptist Sunday School classes met last week as follows:

Mrs. Sallie Burford was hostess to the TEL Class Thursday afternoon. Ten members were present and Mrs. Arthur Sanders opened the meeting with group singing. Cole led a Bible quiz during the social hour.

The hostess served refreshments.

The Dorcas Class met Wednesday evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bottoms. Mrs. Bottoms gave the devotional and two poems were read by Mrs. John Homan. The class made three bed pads to be sent to the Baptist Home at Ironton. During the social hour an Easter hat parade was held. Mrs. Ann Blackesley's hat was judged first and Mrs. Edith Gochenour, second. Refreshments were served.

The Homemakers met Tuesday night with their teacher, Mrs. Lewis Zumsteg. Mrs. Zumsteg gave the devotional and projects were discussed. Plans for the Bible School were discussed. The class voted to serve refreshments at one session of the school.

Set The Dials And Leave; Dinner Will Be Ready

Up-to-date automatic controls, roomy ovens and easy-to-clean surfaces replace drudgery with pleasure on the kitchen range.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

If you're marshaling arguments to junk your old stove, this is a good time of year to press your case. New ranges, in shining display everywhere, offer features to overcome most inconveniences of the old-style stove. And they promise their lucky owners more free time for outdoor summer life.

What's the case against your old stove?

Mine is bulky. The oven is too small and bakes unevenly. Broiling is an exercise calling for deep knee bends. The stove was built before automatic timers so I have to be on hand to start, watch and stop all cooking procedures. To clean it is difficult if not — in some areas — practically impossible.

New free-standing ranges are styled with flat fronts, straight sides and few curves. They fit flush with cabinets and give a built-in look.

Controls are often placed on the high back-splash to keep them out of the way of children and to keep the front unencumbered.

Sizes vary, but even the space-saving 30-inch ranges offer ovens larger than mine. A double oven offers real flexibility for a large family or where much entertaining is done.

For easier handling of food, oven shelves are built to roll all the way out without tipping. Lighter-colored porcelain or vitreous interiors increase heat reflection and cooking efficiency.

Broilers in some can be elevated with a lever or crank. Other models offer vertical broilers to cook both sides of the food at once.

Automatic timers and thermostat controls are not new, but what is noticeable is their increased use and their improved, simplified operation. You still have to budge procedures, of course. But it's now possible to get a range equipped to perform almost any cooking operation automatically or at least with a minimum of pot-watching.

In addition to the automatic oven-timer, you have such gadgets

PERFECTION FROM A PACKAGE — Lemon chiffon pie served with cherry sauce.

Lemon Chiffon Pie Is Treat

Associated Press Food Editor
Cooks, young and old, ask about new food products. So here's news that may be of interest: chiffon pie filling now comes in a package.

We tried the lemon-flavored variety "as is" and also with lemon rind and lemon juice added; the second method is to be recommended, in our opinion, because the fresh flavor makes a real contribution. And another point, serve this dessert shortly after it has set because it is fluffiest then. Setting, by the way, takes only an hour or two.

Quick Lemon Chiffon Dessert
Ingredients: 1 cup finely crushed graham crackers, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ cup butter or margarine (melted), 1 package (3 ounces) lemon chiffon pie filling mix, ½ cup boiling water, ½ cup cold water, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-3 cup sugar.

Method: Stir together graham-cracker crumbs and 2 tablespoons sugar. Add melted butter and mix well. Press onto bottom and sides of a baking pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches). Place pie filling mix in a large deep mixing bowl. Add boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add cold water, lemon rind and juice, and beat vigorously with a rotary beater (hand or electric) until mixture is very foamy—about 1 minute. Add 1-3 cup sugar and beat until filling stands in peaks—this will take 1 to 3 minutes. Turn into pan with graham-cracker crumb mixture in it. Chill until set — 1 to 2 hours. Cut into portions in pan and remove with wide spatula.

Babies Enjoy Mealtime Best

ONE-YEAR-OLD TWINS take pot luck and zero in with their new spoons.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Count your blessings, babies! Mothers know more about feeding you than ever before.

The moment you are ready to handle those eating tools, Mom will encourage you to do so. She starts with letting you drink out of a cup. Did we say drink? Lap up is what we mean and any resemblance to a kitten is not coincidental. When you are about five months old, you'll be putting a hand on the cup while you're drinking. After that you'll reach for the cup. Of course you'll have some spills, but the day will come when you'll be right there with the rest of them, enjoying your daily beverage on your own.

By the time you are a year old, chances are you'll be wielding a spoon. Of course a lot of baby food will dribble down your bib, but you'll have fun and you'll be learning something about free enterprise. You probably won't mind when Mom shovels in a mouthful while you bang the table with the spoon. From your point of view, spoons were made to do double duty.

If your mother is a smart girl, she'll supply you with a bib that is really big, made of terrycloth on the side that shows and spill-resistant material on the side that goes next to that cute sweater you're wearing.

Never forget that a young man is entitled to preferences. You have a right to a few food likes and dislikes. After all you take after your Pop. You may also get a yen for a particular plate or bowl and there's nothing wrong with standing on your rights until you see it filled with chow.

When it comes to trying new foods, you'll be one of two types. Maybe you're a big adventurer and will gobble up any of those "main dish" combinations that come in handy containers. Or perhaps you're the timid type. In that case your mother, if she is wise, will use the "just a little taste" technique. Then when you get used to that new combination, you'll be welcoming a good-size portion.

In case you want to know what lies ahead of you in the main-dish category, here are some junior-food combinations introduced in recent months: macaroni, tomato, beef and bacon; split peas with ham; beef and noodles with vegetables; egg yolks and ham; chicken noodle dinner.

You seem to enjoy these specialties combining meat and vegetables. Do they give you the illusion that you are eating one of those casseroles your Mom is always dreaming up for the grown folks who come to her buffet suppers? And speaking of parties, your mother may want to celebrate when it's time for her to put one candle on your birthday cake. You don't like crowds, so she'll probably invite a friend with a baby who was born about the same time you were. While the mothers are having cake and coffee, you and your friend can lap up your favorite junior fruits — served in paper dessert dishes with plastic spoons.

The party will probably take place in your play pen and it won't last too long. By some great good fortune, maybe your mother and her friend can get you and your friend to take a nap while they hash over the fascinating things you both did yesterday.

New Taste From Old Recipe

OLD FASHIONED CHEESE SPREAD—Mother had a hundred and one uses for it.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
Enormous pleasure comes when you try a dish enjoyed in your childhood and find it measures up to your memories of it.

This was our own recent and delightful experience when we reconstructed a cheese spread dreamed up by mother many years ago, and it was just as delicious as we remembered it.

In our home, when I was a little girl, this spread was used mainly as a filling for sandwiches for large and small "teas." By the time I was a teen-ager I was serving it at high-school and college parties when there were lots of healthy appetites to satisfy. We usually combined it with fresh white bread and bought extra-long loaves, cutting them into thin horizontal slices. In this way the cheese mixture, left at room temperature long enough to soften, could be spread quickly on the slices and dozens of sandwiches made in a short time. One of our sisters usually helped and we both prided ourselves on our professional approach!

A persuasive feature of this spread is its keeping quality. We've had it on hand in a covered jar in the refrigerator for a couple of weeks and found it endlessly useful.

The original spread was always made with homemade boiled salad dressing; but if you haven't any of this old-fashioned ingredient at hand, use mayonnaise as suggested in the recipe.

MY MOTHER'S CHEESE SPREAD

Ingredients: 1 pound natural cheddar cheese, 1 jar (4 ounces) pimientos (drained), ½ cup sliced pitted green olives, ½ cup broken walnut meats, ¼ cup mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing to taste.

Method: Put cheese, pimientos, olives and walnuts through food chopper using fine blade. Mix in mayonnaise or salad dressing. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. (Makes 3½ to 4 cups.) Use as a sandwich filling alone or with sliced ham, turkey or tomatoes.

Note: This spread may be made with a soft-type cheddar cheese and the pimientos, olives and walnuts knife-chopped in fine or medium-fine pieces.

RECIPE NOTES

If you want to take a little of this spread as a gift to a friend, pack the empty pimiento jar full and recap.

Besides using this spread as a filling for sandwiches, my mother liked it as a stuffing for celery.

After the celery ribs were spread with the cheese mixture they would be cut into short lengths and served as nibbles. Or they would be arranged on salad greens and served as a salad.

My mother also liked to use the spread with fresh pears. The pears would be pared and halved and have their stem structure removed. Then the cavities would be filled with the cheese mixture. The stuffed pears would be served with crisp greens and salad dressing as a salad.

When we gave this cheesecake recipe to a friend recently, she told us she used it in the following ways.

Tomato Salad—Cut a thin slice from the bottom of each tomato, if necessary, to have them stand straight. Cut out the stem ends. Slice tomatoes into wedges but not all the way through. Spoon a mound of the cheese spread into the center of each tomato and serve with salad greens and salad dressing.

Frankfurter Topping—Split frankfurters lengthwise but not all the way through; grill. Just before they are finished cooking, spread a little of the cheese mixture over their cut surfaces and put back under the broiler to melt cheese. Use foil under the franks because some of the cheese mixture will probably run down. Place the franks on toasted buttered rolls, spooning up any of the good gooey cheese that has run down.

Hamburger Bonus—Put a dollop of the cheese mixture on a grilled hamburger and put back under the broiler just until the cheese melts.

April Brings Businessmen Slight Hope

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—April has brought business little more than a shower of hope. Times are still good. But they aren't getting higher, since the traditional spring pickup failed to take shape.

Businessmen today mostly look for a continuance of the leveling-off period into the summer—thankful that so far it is proving to be so mild. The ray of hope—brightest in Wall Street—centers on another traditional pickup date, Labor Day.

Earnings reports for the first three months of the year, while better than some expected, show that the number of firms who had increased profits over a year ago barely tops the number who had declines.

In a number of industries the backlog of orders sustains near-capacity operations. But an increasing number of firms report that the volume of new orders is dropping.

Inventory cutting continued to be a major business practice in April, with the end still not definitely sighted.

The number of firms who are shortening their work weeks and tightening employe rolls continues to increase. In spite of rising wage scales, therefore, total income from pay checks has not gained in April as was first hoped.

Most disappointing, perhaps, has been the failure of two outstanding soft spots to harden notably. Home building and new car sales didn't take their traditional spurt in April.

The picture in the basic industries has been as mixed as the weather this April.

Most steel companies have reported increased earnings so far this year, thanks both to good demand and higher prices. But new orders, except for heavy plate and structural steel, have dropped off. And so has production. In the steel industry the talk now is of a pickup in the fall.

In other metals the trend has been mostly lower too. The picture has changed sharply from one of shortages to one of oversupply. Price structures have weakened or are shaky.

But the oil industry, the aircraft makers, the electrical equipment and business machine firms have been having a little boom of their own.

Merchants report their spring trade slightly ahead of a year ago, with higher prices accounting for most of the gain.

Farm Families Maintain Good Credit Record

Farm families in Pettis and Benton Counties who are using credit obtained through the Farmers Home Administration are making efficient use of the funds and are maintaining a good repayment record, according to a report by the agency's county supervisor, Kenneth F. Fine.

Many farmers are using the loan funds to obtain higher grade livestock including dairy animals, to improve their pastures, to buy proper types and amounts of fertilizer and to finance similar steps toward better farming.

So far this fiscal year, or since June 30, 1956, farmers in Pettis and Benton Counties have repaid a total of $300,496.35 on all types of loans.

The Farmers Home Administration provides loans to farm better, buy or improve farms, build or repair farm buildings, improve soil and water conservation practices, meet emergency needs, or take care of certain refinancing problems, Fine said.

Farmers Home Administration credit is supplied on the basis of supplementing credit from other sources, he explained. The loans are available only when other lenders are not in position to supply the credit the farmers need to get the greatest possible returns from their land and family labor resources.

The average time taken by farmers in the counties to repay their loans for farm operating purposes, and to reach the point where they can obtain the credit they need from conventional lenders, is approximately five years, Fine said.

Before a loan is closed, the agency and the applicant plan ahead to make sure that every loan will be repayable from planned income.

In addition to credit, farmers with Farmers Home Administration loans receive necessary aid with farm and home management problems and in keeping records that help them to keep their farm business on a sound financial basis.

Cat Adopts Mouse

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ever hear of a cat adopting a black field mouse?

Baby, Al Orozco's cat, had four kittens recently, Orozco, "admiring the kittens, was amazed to find a field mouse contentedly nursing with the kittens."

"She thinks more of that mouse than she does of her kittens," said Orozco. "She keeps the mouse spotless, always nuzzling and licking it."

"What a cat," Orozco said. "Know why we got her: To keep mice out of the storeroom — and just look at her."

Less Farm Marketing Income Is Received

WASHINGTON (AP)—Missouri farmers received $123,791,000 from farm marketings during the first two months of this year, a decrease from the $129,628,000 for the same period in 1956.

In reporting those figures the Agriculture Department said that while cash receipts from livestock and products increased from $87,339,000 for the two-months period last year to $94,788,000 for the same months this year, receipts from crop marketings dropped from $42,289,000 to $29,003,000.

In The Bag

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Here's one for those who like to ponder the devious ways of bureaucracy:

On a Dayton street corner stand two mail boxes, one sternly labeled "out of town mail" the other "local mail."

Three times daily a mail truck pulls up and the driver casually empties both boxes into the same bag.

School Is Damaged

DENVER (AP)—Principal Lindsey Keeler said vandals entered Fairmont Elementary School Sunday and broke at least 100 windows, smashed every clock in the two-story building, demolished telephones and typewriters, hurled chairs through windows, broke a piano, shredded office records, ruined an athletic trophy and threw desk drawers to the floor in 12 classrooms.
